Zoom host licenses are purchased in packs. Furman does not have a site license, but we purchase enough for faculty and key staff to have a host license if they need one.

Zoom is NOT single sign on. Your license must be set up by assigning yourself a password. Your Furman email address is your username. To request a license contact the Service Center or Susan Dunnavant.

From your opening dashboard, click Customize to personalize your custom link if desired. Meeting URLs persist beyond the meeting time, but to be ready for an “anytime” meeting, use your Personal Meeting ID.

Participants may join by phone or via computer audio. Smartphones, tablets, PCs of any variety - any device that can get to the internet can participate in a meeting. Recommendations are to limit video to 10 or so participants at a time.

Use the Zoom client (Windows, MacOS, IOS, Android) or furman.zoom.us to get to Zoom. A host must be present to run a meeting. If you have a Zoom license/login, that is a host account.

Screen sharing requires an application be open on the presenting device. Unlike some apps, you may not preload content. Open any software you may want to present, then Zoom gives you the option to scroll between open applications for screen sharing. You may also tab out of the meeting to open an application. If you plan to regularly present via Zoom with video on and off several times or screen sharing between several apps, we suggest you log in from second device (muted) as a confidence monitor.
