OUR ROLE AND RESPONSIBILITY

Advising on matters pertaining to internationalization and global issues affecting the Furman community, including, but not limited to, policy development and revision, recruitment, multicultural training, and education for faculty and staff.

Collaborating with other entities on campus, such as the Rinker Center and Center for Inclusive Communities to supplement their work on behalf of campus internationalization.

Identifying opportunities to connect diversity-rich and global experiences with existing or new courses to prepare students to live, work and contribute in a diverse globally connected world.

Serving as a bridge to engage the Furman community with the broader Greenville international network.

Exploring opportunities to officially recognize international affinity groups among employees as well as create a web presence.

And other work as the sub-committees sees fit.

SHARE YOUR INTERNATIONALIZATION IDEAS WITH US

We welcome ideas and suggestions for activities and events that support the international community at Furman University and foster interaction with the Greenville community.
